Adulterated Coins Then, Printing-Press Greenbacks Now

If you suspect that the high cost of living which we call inflation was triggered by your government spending more money than it collected in taxes and covering the deficit by grinding out more printing-press dollars — why, you are correct, for that is the history of all governments which have allowed politics to put them in a financial bind.

Paper dollars are relatively new—but phoney money was turned out by rascally governments thousands of years ago.

Schoolboy histories told me that one reason the nobility rose against kings in medieval Europe was that the nobles caught the crown adulterating its gold coins with lead.

But the September-October issue of Aramco World, publication of the Arabian American Oil Co., New York City, carries the story back thousands of years, in an article titled "The Gentle Art of Forgery."

Writing about Lebanon, the trading center for ancient Greek and Roman coins, the magazine reports:

"Forgery in the Mediterranean is almost as old as coined money itself.

"But if forgers were quick to spot a trend, the rulers of the day were equally quick to see the implications, so from the beginning forgers were threatened with dire punishment by the state . . .

"Even in those days there were two types of forgery. There were fakes and—by far more common—there were imitations. The imitations were circulated as official public money by, say, a provincial governor who had run out of state coinage. In Athens in an emergency in 400 B.C. plated bronze coins were substituted for the familiar silver tetradrachms, and for 13 years, from 406 to 393 B.C. the Athenian mint struck only these plated bronze pieces in imitation of the normal silver coins.

"In the Roman period, particularly in the third century A.D., the financial straits in which the emperors found themselves necessitated successive issues of imitation Roman denarii."

A parallel of today? But of course. Ever since the end of World War II the United States government has been spending more than it collected in taxes, covering the deficit by prodigious borrowing, now on the way toward a public debt of 400 billion, and by speeding up the printing of paper money—so that consumer goods now are priced from three to five times what they were before World War II.

The lesser-educated citizen used to think this was of little importance. Individuals go broke, he said, but government can't go broke.

True. But as this editor has been preaching to deaf ears for a generation: Government doesn't go broke—its citizens do.

The message, I believe, is finally getting through to all Americans—judging from last Nov. 7's election returns.

The American dollar has been debased just as surely as the Athenian and Roman coins were adulterated 2,000 years ago by financially-strapped rulers.

Remember this when an economy-minded President collides with the free-spenders as Congress convenes in 1973.

Wreck kills 4

Four persons were killed Saturday afternoon in a two-car head-on collision in the westbound lane of I-30 near the Highway 29 interchange. Above, law enforcement officers and volunteers work to free one of the two persons killed in a 1972 Cadillac bound for Dallas. At left, is the car driven by Jimmy Lee Rudd of Hope, which was heading east in the westbound lane, the State Police said. Rudd and a passenger in the car, George Lee Prater, were killed. Senators:

Pointers for pampered politicians

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. senators receive wallet-size copies of their electrocardiograms, free ice, and speech-writing services from the Library of Congress.

They also are entitled to use plants from the Botanic Gardens for their offices, or reproductions of paintings and prints from the National Gallery of Art.

These are just a few samplings from a list of "allowances, emoluments and privileges" available to U.S. senators and published in a new Congressional Handbook.

The 204-page handbook was prepared by the Joint Committee on Congressional Operations. There is a companion volume for House members.

The handbook notes that senators automatically receive $45,000 in group life insurance coverage at a monthly cost of $26.82. The amount is based on their salaries of $42,500 a year.

A senator's allowance for staff help, and the size of his office suite, depends on how populous a state he represents.

Senators from states with a population of over 17 million—California and New York—are allowed $558,145 a year for staff costs. Senators from states with a population of three million or less receive $311,577.

Similarly, seven-room office suites are assigned to senators from states with over 12 million people (California and New York), six-room suites to senators from states with populations of 7 to 12 million (Pennsylvania, Illinois, Texas, Michigan, Ohio and New Jersey), and five-room suites to senators from states with less than seven million.

Choice of suites is on the basis of seniority. Senators receive allowances for stationery, postage, telephone and telegraph, travel and offices in home states. These also are based on state population and, in the case of travel, on the distance between a senator's state and Washington. Senators are given congress-sional license tags and have virtually unrestricted parking privileges in Washington.

The handbook offers advice on how to keep office files and write to government officials. It even tells the location of gymnasiums in the Senate.

Bormann said alive!

NEW YORK (AP) — Martin Bormann, Adolf Hitler's deputy, lives on a vast ranch in northern Argentina where he was traced by that South American country's central intelligence agency, the Daily Express of London reported today.

The copyrighted story, by spy expert Ladislav Farago in collaboration with former Express foreign editor Stewart Steven, was distributed by the Chicago Tribune-New York Daily News syndicate in the United States.

Pictures of a heavy-set, balding man were published with the story in the Daily News. The newspaper said that Argentine intelligence agent Jose Velasco identified the man as Bormann, although he was traveling with a passport made out to Ricardo Bauer.

The pictures were taken when Velasco questioned the man at Checkpoint Mendoza near the Chilean border last Oct. 5, the newspaper said. It quoted Velasco as saying that he was sorry he had not arrested the man on his own initiative.

Farago and Steven said in their story that, in the last few weeks, Bormann had been traced to the Rancho Grande, a huge estate owned by Arndt von Bohnen-Halbach of the West German Krupp family, in the Province of Salta.

"We have at this moment incontrovertible evidence that Bormann himself is there," they quoted Velasco as saying. But they reported that Velasco had ruled out any attempt to capture the wanted war criminal at the ranch because he would "easily escape long before we could reach his present hideout."

The authors said Argentine Secret Service documents showed Bormann had lived in various South American countries under a number of names since 1948. Through investment of smuggled Nazi wealth, they said, he had become "an important factor in the economic life of South America."

In Vienna today, Simon Wiesenthal, the head of the Jewish documentation center, said he was "very, very skeptical" the man described in the Daily Express article would turn out to be Bormann.

Four die in wreck on I-30

Four persons were killed and three injured Saturday afternoon in a two-car collision on Interstate 30 a half-mile east of the State Highway 29 interchange.

Killed were two Hope men — Jimmy Lee Rudd, 18, the driver of one of the cars, and George Lee Prater, 23, a passenger in Rudd's car — and Ralph A. Grant, 57, and Mrs. U. W. Gant, 78, passengers in a car driven by James Ralph Gant, 15.

James Gant, Mrs. Elva J. Gant, 49, and Miss Nancy Gant, 13, were injured and hospitalized here. All were transferred Sunday to a Dallas hospital. The Gants were enroute to Dallas at the time of the crash.

According to a hospital spokesman, James Gant suffered a broken leg, a broken arm, and a broken shoulder; his mother suffered assorted broken bones and lacerations; and his sister suffered lacerations and internal injuries.

State Trooper Harvey Fullerton said Rudd's car, a 1963 Ford, was traveling east in the westbound lane of I-30 and collided head-on with the Gant vehicle, a 1972 Cadillac.

Funeral services for the Gants will be in Dallas. Funeral arrangements for the two Hope men are pending.

Showdown on peace plan?

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon scheduled his third meeting in as many days with Henry A. Kissinger today, possibly as a prelude to a showdown with the South Vietnamese on terms of a proposed Vietnam ceasefire.

Nixon, who flew to his Maryland mountain retreat here Sunday night after spending the weekend in New York City, arranged to confer during the afternoon with Kissinger, his chief negotiator to the secret Vietnam peace talks in Paris.

The meetings came amid speculation by administration sources that an interruption in the Paris peace talks may mean the United States has decided to tell South Vietnam that no more concessions can be won from North Vietnam in a ceasefire agreement.

Meanwhile, North Vietnam's official newspaper said hopes for peace have begun to dim following what it called an about-face by the United States and "insolent demands" by President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

In a broadcast monitored in Tokyo today, the Vietnam News Agency quoted an editorial in the newspaper Nhan Dan as saying:

"The about-face of the American side, which refuses to sign the already-agreed-upon accord on the date fixed, and the insolent demands of the puppet, Nguyen Van Thieu, echoed frenziedly by officials in Washington and the American press, little by little dissipate, even before the ink is dry, the silhouette of peace" which many American journalists withheld."

In Saigon, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met with Thieu for 10 minutes today, but there was no announcement of what was discussed. One source said Bunker may have delivered a private message from Nixon to Thieu.

Thieu's senior foreign policy adviser, Nguyen Phu Duc, was expected to arrive in Washington from Paris today or Tuesday.

Prisoners released

NEW DELHI (AP) — President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto today released all 617 Indian prisoners of war held in Pakistan, Radio Pakistan reported.

Bhutto's clemency was an attempt to focus attention on the 91,000 Pakistanis India captured during the war in Bangladesh last December. India has said it would return them only with the consent of Bangladesh, which said Pakistan must first formally recognize its independence.

The Indians held in Pakistan were captured on the western front during the December war.

"You are free from this moment," Bhutto told them during a visit to their camp at Lyallpur, 175 miles south of Rawalpindi.

Heart patients could be saved if...

By C. G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Many patients who die of heart attacks might be saved if they would seek medical assistance earlier, say two Maryland physicians.

Drs. Manning Feinleib and Michael J. Davidson of the National Heart and Lung Institute at Bethesda, Md., report on a survey of a Maryland suburban area of 250,000 population in the Nov. 27 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"By far the greatest delay in the care of the patient with an acute myocardial infarction was his own unwillingness to call for help," they reported.

Heart disease is the leading cause of death in the United States, and myocardial infarction accounts for the greatest percentage of these deaths.

In this disease, an area of the heart muscle is damaged or killed because of an insufficient supply of blood.

Feinleib and Davidson studied the 719 recorded deaths of persons 35 to 74 years of age in Montgomery County for 1969. Of these, 257 died of coronary heart disease.

At least 155 of the heart-fatal victims died "before receiving any definitive medical care," they said.

Major factors found to be responsible for the delay were: delay in recognizing symptoms, denial of symptoms, delay in seeking medical assistance and delay in arrival at a medical facility.

The first three forms of patient delay, the researchers said, "can take from hours to days, or even weeks." The fourth is related to transportation and usually is measured in minutes.

To help shorten the delay, the physicians called for a public education program aimed at getting heart victims to seek help as soon as they experience the first symptoms of an attack.

They also recommend development of a nationwide network of round-the-clock outpatient diagnostic centers, or cardiac checkpoints, to examine any patient who reports with symptoms which might indicate a heart attack.

POWs to receive yule gifts

NEW YORK (AP) — Each American prisoner of war in North Vietnam will be allowed to receive an 11-pound parcel and a card from his family for Christmas, says Cora Weiss, co-chairman of the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam.

Mrs. Weiss said Sunday she had received word from a North Vietnamese spokesman that the packages must be sent by next of kin by post from Moscow. Packages sent by any other way will not be received. Cards may be sent by post or via the Committee of Liaison, 365 W. 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10036, she said.

Mrs. Weiss said routing for the parcels and cards sent by the POWs' families is handled by the U.S. Post Office, which sends them via Geneva and Moscow to Hanoi by a special agreement established in 1968. She said families sending parcels and cards through this routing should address them with the serviceman's name, serial number and camp of detention to "Hanoi, D.R.V.N., via Moscow."

Supreme Court upheld school decision

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court today upheld the Pulaski County School Board's dismissal of a teacher who was accused of having a bottle containing an alcoholic beverage brought into a Jacksonville junior high school.

The judgment affirmed a decision by Circuit Court Judge Warren E. Wood of Little Rock that the board had just cause in discharging Louis A. Green, a ninth grade English teacher.

Green, who had denied that the bottle contained an alcoholic beverage, had taught in the Pulaski County district for 13 years before his dismissal after the beginning of the 1971-72 school term.

Green contended that the lower court judgment was contrary to the evidence and that his dismissal was a breach of contract. He sought compensation for the alleged balance due on his annual written contract, but the Supreme Court said a teacher is entitled to damages only when his dismissal is not justified.

The accusation that he had a student bring the bottle into the school was one of four charges made against Green. The others were that he caused a student to be late for one class and had the student taken out of another class, had displayed emotional outbursts in front of students and other teachers, and had "harbored" a student — keeping the student in his own classroom when the student was supposed to be at another class.

During the lower court trial of the case, there was testimony that Green had a student bring the bottle from Green's car to the school cafeteria and later take the bottle back to the automobile.

Green had contended that the bottle was a nonalcoholic whiskey sour mix, which he had brought for use in drinks he said he and another teacher had planned to have before attending a ballgame after school.

But a counselor at the school testified that the container was a bottle of whiskey sour with an alcohol stamp affixed to it. The student who brought the bottle from the car also said there was alcohol in the bottle.

Green also claimed in his appeal that the board had failed to follow due process requirements, but the court said the teacher was given adequate opportunity to refute allegations made against him.

the voters and move more to the right of the political spectrum, Alabama Gov. George Wallace says.

Wallace came to Miami for a Thanksgiving holiday and appeared on NBC's Meet the Press television program Sunday.

"I'm sure the stubborn and obstinate may not have got the message, but the vast majority of the party did," Wallace told interviewers, referring to his victories in several Democratic primaries.

"If the party leaders don't get the message, the Democratic party as we know it will go into oblivion. It will be no more," said Wallace, who appeared at a Miami television studio for the show's taping.

His bid for the Democratic presidential nomination was ended last May by an assassination attempt that left him paralyzed from the waist down. Saying he was seeking reorganization of the Democratic party "from top to bottom," Wallace said he had authorized aides to open a Washington office to campaign for the replacement of National Committee Chairman Jean Westwood.

He declined to say whom he supported to replace Mrs. Westwood, who was appointed to the post by defeated Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern. But he said the new chairman must represent his views, which he said were supported by "the great mass of middle-class Americans."

The governor said he has not decided whether to seek the presidency in 1976 but said he would "not rule it out."

To Die with Dignity...

DEAR HELEN:
I have written a legally witnessed directive to my next of kin and I'd like to share it with your readers. It states: "Should I become incurably ill or senile to the point where prolonging my life has no validity, (i.e., my mind is gone, or my body in so much pain that I must be kept drugged) I hereby direct my closest living relative to let me die with dignity. No machines, drugs or extraordinary procedures will be used to keep me alive. If euthanasia is legal (as I hope it will be) at the time, my permission for mercy-death is hereby granted to attending doctors. This is written to relieve my kin from a decision which might otherwise bring them condemnation or guilt feelings. Medical advancement can now keep a body alive long after it is of no use to its tenant. If there's no hope, no mentality, I don't want to linger on as a burden to my family, yet I have seen elderly "vegetables" or terminal cases forced to last far past "living." I think a "right to die" note is as necessary as a will these days, when medical advances can turn dying into a long, ghastly wait. —THINKING AHEAD

DEAR T.A.:
We think alike! When the mind is irrevocably gone, the body should be allowed to follow it. If lengthened life is merely prolonged death, then most definitely the machines (or whatever) should be turned off. Many doctors agree but can't act because the decision to stop life-sustaining procedures rests with relatives, who "don't want to feel like murderers." Your legal directive would make dying easier—for all concerned. It gets my vote. —H.

DEAR HELEN:
I ran away and got married at 15. I'm 18 now, and hate myself even more than I hate my baby and my husband. He is nine years older than me. I soon found out he was sleeping with every girl he could sweet talk. From the start he called me a dumb stupid kid who was no good for anything, but I couldn't go back home because everyone would say "I told you so!"

It got so bad he hadn't come near me for a month, and then he was gone for two days and I took a bunch of nerve pills, hoping I'd never wake up. But they just knocked me out. I vaguely remember him coming in the room. His "help" was to get me pregnant. I resented the baby before it was born, and it's two years old now and I can't change. I scold it for things that shouldn't bother me. I'm so mean, I've made it mean. It hits people for no reason, and bites other kids. When I tell it to sit down, it screams and hits me, and spanking doesn't help. I'm afraid I'll do something terrible because I take out my feelings against my husband on his kid. I don't want to be this way but I can't help myself. My husband doesn't stay home much and his talk is mostly swearing or complaining. I can't leave it anywhere because no one wants such a mean one.

Is there any way out except enough pills to finish me this time? —HOPELESS
DEAR HOPELESS:
Call the Child Welfare Department and ask for help—which might include a temporary foster home for your baby and a new environment, plus therapy, for you. A mother whose resentment is so great that she thinks of her two-year-old only as "it"—a "thing" her husband forced on her—is a threat to herself and the child. You're wise enough to see this. Don't risk another day's delay in seeking professional aid, for all your sakes! —H.

For Tuesday, November 28, 1972

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY

This will be a year when you'll want to do more on your own. You can. Accomplishment will come easier without the assistance of sluggish associates.

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19): A little more tolerance than usual will be necessary with co-workers. Don't find fault unduly.
TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20): You may be required to spend money you don't count on for needs of loved ones. Buy sparingly.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Petty annoyances are likely to cause you frustrations. Keep cool: they're small, manageable.
CANCER (June 21-July 22): Hearsay information could come to you from someone who talks too much. You'll learn later it's not dependable.
LEO (July 23-Aug 22): You may encounter a situation where you're asked to share a friend's responsibilities. Financial aid could be requested.
VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22): Push too hard for what you want, and others will feel you're too self-seeking. Reputation will suffer.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 23): A little more responsibility than usual could fall on you. Someone else needs your help.
SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22): Areas where you share a joint material interest could cause problems. Re-examination is advisable.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21): An agreement you hope to conclude may be slightly delayed. Don't let this deter you from basic aims.
CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19): You will make a lot of extra work for yourself if you don't carefully plan activities. Details are important.
AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 19): Attend to past obligations, like small overdue bills, today. One in particular needs prompt handling.
PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20): If you are working on something with another, distribute the load equally. Avoid duplicate effort.

Where has Bull been all season?

By HARRY KING

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Watching Arkansas against Texas Tech was like looking into the past and the future at the same time.

The Razorbacks abandoned their pass-oriented attack and came out in the slot-1 — the offense that had been so successful for them in the mid 1960s.

The backfield had the look of 1973. Sophomore Scott Bull was at quarterback, sophomore Marsh White was a fullback. Sophomore Reggie Craig was at slotback, the position manned in the past by the likes of Jim Lindsey and Harry Jones. Junior Dickey Morton was at tailback.

Craig never carried the football, but he blocked effectively as Morton, Bull and White rushed for 270 yards in a 24-14 season-ending victory over Tech.

The triumph gave the Razorbacks a winning season, 6-5.

"It meant as much to the future of our program as any game we've played in a long time," Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said. "It meant a lot to our off-season program, to spring training and to recruiting."

Broyles said he was informed Nov. 19 that the Razorbacks' three wide receivers would probably miss practice for the Tech game because of health problems.

"We knew we would have to do something drastic to have a running attack so we decided to go back to our old offense with four backs who can run," he said. "This opened up a lot of different avenues to control the football. It worked out even better than we had hoped for."

"We were determined to run the football and keep it away from Tech," Broyles said. "Texas Tech has a lot of threats with the football."

Bull, at 6-foot-5 and 206 pounds, is a far better runner than Joe Ferguson, the Razorbacks' starting quarterback for the last two years.

Broyles said Ferguson had had a "great career" at Arkansas and that he had discussed the decision to start Bull with Ferguson.

Broyles said he had been as-

Broyles in hospital

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles entered a Fayetteville hospital Sunday night for a routine physical examination.

A spokesman at the university said Broyles was not feeling bad and was expected to be released this afternoon.

Prescott wins state finals

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Prescott Coach Charles Montgomery had little doubt when the Class A football playoff final turned in the Curley Wolves' favor.

"Blocking that field goal was the turning point," Montgomery said after his team had rallied for a 26-21 victory Saturday night.

He was referring to a 24-yard field goal attempt that would have given Clarendon a 20-12 lead. Instead, the attempt was blocked and the Curley Wolves immediately moved 95 yards for a touchdown and two-point conversion to make it 20-17.

Hilton McDonald got the touchdown from the one and then, with less than three minutes remaining, broke 69 yards for another touchdown that clinched the victory.

Anthony Stewart scored Clarendon's final touchdown from one yard out in the final seconds.

Prescott had taken a 12-10 halftime lead, but Clarendon went ahead 17-12 on a 13-yard run by Larry Skinner.

McDonald was the leading rusher with 169 yards on 10 carries and Jerry Flemons contributed 109 yards on 20 attempts to the Wolves' attack.

Prescott finished its season 11-2 and Clarendon wound up 9-4.

Okla. St. unhappy with bowl selections

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

There are some unhappy bowl teams around the country today ... like Louisiana State, Missouri, Iowa State and Texas Tech. But there are some unhappier nonbowl teams ... like Oklahoma State and Southern Methodist.

The unranked Oklahoma State Cowboys, 6-4, had some unkind words for the various bowl selection committees Saturday following their 45-14 trouncing of favored Iowa State, rated 17th and bound for the Liberty Bowl.

"We're disappointed that we're not in a bowl game because we've beaten three bowl teams (Colorado, Missouri, Iowa State)," said quarterback Brent Blackman, who scored once, ran for a two-point conversion and threw two long passes that set up touchdowns. "Our goal is to beat a fourth when we play Oklahoma next week."

Unranked and uninvited SMU also has a 6-4 mark after beating Baylor 12-7 and Coach Hayden Fry points out that if the Mustangs beat Texas Christian in their win-up, "Our record will be better than some teams playing in bowl games. I'm going to recommend that the NCAA move back the date on which bowl selections can be made ... at least until late November."

Actually, bowl invitations can be extended on the third Saturday in November or one week before the end of a team's regular season—whichever comes first.

With the regular season drawing to a close, seven members of The Associated Press Top Twenty were not scheduled Saturday. Southern Cal and Alabama, the 1-2 teams, finish this weekend—the Trojans against No. 11 Notre Dame and 'Bama against No. 10 Auburn.

Colorado, UCLA and Washington State, rated 13th, 14th and 19th, wound up last week.

LSU, ranked eighth and headed for the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, was held to a 3-3 tie when Florida freshman John Williams kicked a 35-yard field goal with 2:08 left. The Tigers, on the other hand, missed seven of eight field goal attempts while star quarterback Bert Jones was held to 82 yards passing and sacked seven times.

sured by professional scouts that Ferguson's performance this year would not harm his chance of going high in the pro draft.

"We just didn't have the cast for Joe to execute," Broyles said. "There's no way to throw against a stacked deck."

Broyles also said that Ferguson would play in at least two postseason games and would have an opportunity at that time to further impress pro scouts.

The Razorbacks showed their game plan early. They took the opening kickoff and, moving into a 25 mile per hour wind, drove from their own 20 to the Tech 14 without throwing a pass but a fumble stopped the drive.

Minutes later, the Razorbacks' Doug Yoder recovered a fumble at the Tech 42 and Arkansas scored in nine plays with Jon Richardson leading the final three yards. Tech tied it late in the first quarter and it was still 7-7 at the half.

Broyles said he decided to take the wind in the third quarter because "ours was not a come-from-behind offense."

Mike Kirkland, a cool freshman, was forced to do the punting for Arkansas when Drew Toole was injured and his 50-yard kick flipped the field position in favor of the Razorbacks in the third quarter.

High School Super Team picked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — North Little Rock Ole Main, champion of AAAA, and Hot Springs, winner of AAA-West, placed three players each on the Super High School football team selected by The Associated Press.

Ole Main is represented by defensive tackle Phillip Dokes, split receiver Bruce Woodbridge and tailback Charles Walker.

Members of the team from Hot Springs are quarterback Tommy Koonce, defensive tackle William Watkins and split receiver Pete Campbell.

In addition to Koonce and Walker, the offensive backfield includes Jerry Eckwood of Brinkley and Will Robinson of Little Rock Central. The offensive linemen are Gerald Skinner of Malvern, Harvey Hampton of Forrest City, Don Shelton of Newport, Paul McMahon of Magnolia and Andrew Hess of Wynne.

In addition to Dokes and Watkins, the defensive linemen are Wally Cox of Helena, Robert Speer of Jonesboro and Dwayne Peterson and Lottus Harris of Little Rock Hall.

The linebackers are Preston Miller of Jonesboro, Charles Williams of Forrest City and Mike Dunaway of Conway. Conrad Bradburn of Little Rock Catholic and Johnny Erwin of Star City are the defensive halfbacks.

Eckwood and Harris are the only juniors on the team. The rest are seniors.

Koonce and Campbell were two of the big reasons Hot Springs won the AAA-West title for the third straight year.

kept the drive alive at midfield and when Kirkland booted home the clinching field goal from 37 yards out, there was only 1:19 remaining.

Bull's success running outside made Tech conscious of the wide plays and enabled the fullback to have a better blocking angle for Morton on the off-tackle play. It also made it easier for the Razorbacks to run inside — something they have not been able to do consistently for some time.

Arkansas, pass-oriented the last few years, threw only four times against Tech and completed two. Broyles said the Razorbacks would start preparing for 1973 with the slot-1 and the wishbone.

Broyles went out of his way to mention the seniors who played their last games as Razorbacks. He said he asked the team to show their appreciation for the seniors prior to the Tech game and the players responded with a three-minute ovation.

"This team has never lost heart," Broyles said. "I've had teams that have won more but never have I had one I had more respect for."

All-AIC team named

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Johnny Baker of Oachita Baptist University and Benny Shepherd of Arkansas Tech have been named to the All-Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference football team for the third straight year.

Joining Baker and Shepherd in the backfield are Alan Dixon and Tom Ed Gooden of Harding and Cleo House of Southern State. Dixon and Gooden are juniors. The others are seniors.

Baker, who set the conference's single-season rushing record of 1,614 yards as a sophomore, gained 1,146 yards this season. His total rushing yardage for four seasons was a conference record 4,387.

Dixon rushed for 1,380 yards this season. House ran for 963 yards and Shepherd for 793. Gooden accounted for a total of 1,093 yards running and passing.

The remainder of the offensive team includes split end Harry Starnes, Harding, senior; tight end David Dumond, Ouachita, senior; tackles Ed Eason, Harding, senior, and Bill Palmer, UA-Monticello, senior; guards Ricky Douglas, Ouachita, senior, and Mike Cummins, SCA, senior; and center Billy Lewis, Arkansas Tech.

Koonce completed 143 of 258 passes for 2,238 yards and 19 touchdowns. Campbell caught 47 for 892 yards and 12 touchdowns.

Woodbridge's receiving statistics — 35 catches for 525 yards — are far less impressive unless you consider that the Wildcats completed only 77 passes the entire season.

The three running backs all possess impressive statistics. Eckwood rushed 181 times for 1,480 yards and scored 24 touchdowns.

One college coach said Eckwood, a 196-pounder with 4.6 speed in the 40, is the best running back the state has produced since Elijah Pitts, who played several seasons with the Green Bay Packers.

Walker gained 1,146 yards on 266 attempts and was the leading scorer in AAAA with 13 touchdowns.

Robinson rushed for 1,170 yards, much of it in the last half of the season after the Tigers switched from the wishbone to the I formation.

"After we got Muskie Harris hurt, we went to the I and decided to either sink or swim," said Central Coach Joe Fred Young. "We told him what we wanted from him and he responded."

The five interior offensive linemen average slightly more than 6-foot-2 and 222 pounds. Skinner, at 6-foot-5, 256 is the largest and Shelton, at 6-0, 195, is the smallest.

Defensively, the line averages more than 6-foot-3 and 216 pounds and ranges from the 6-foot, 190-pound Peterson to the 6-foot-4, 240-pound Dokes. Speer is the tallest at 6-foot-4. He and Dokes are considered the top college prospects in the state by college coaches.

Decision expected today

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An "official decision" was to be issued today on the controversial 14-14 tie played by Hot Springs and Jonesboro in the Class AAA football playoff game Friday night, Johnnie Burnett, director of the Arkansas Activities Association said Sunday.

Burnett said he had asked referees and officials of both schools to submit reports on the game, which was still tied after the two teams completed three 10-minute sudden-death overtime periods. The two teams were declared co-champions.

Burnett indicated he would rule that the tie is official. He said if his ruling Monday was unacceptable to either of the schools, they could request a hearing before the Executive Committee of the Activities Association.

Skins on way to the top

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer

"Last year we made the playoffs and had to go to San Francisco," Washington Coach George Allen said. "Our next goal is to open at home."

The Redskins officially made it into the National Football League playoffs and took a giant step toward that goal of a post-season home opener Sunday as Billy Kilmer tossed a pair of touchdown passes to guide them to a 21-16 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

Wildcats named No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The North Little Rock Ole Main football team set its goal before the season started of being the best in the state.

That goal was realized Sunday as a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters named the Wildcats the No. 1 team in the year's final Associated Press Arkansas high school football poll.

"They (the players) set their goal early and worked for it," said Ole Main Coach Henry Hawk. "That was their goal (being No. 1). They felt they could do it and they did it."

Following Ole Main in the poll were Little Rock Hall, Hot Springs, Magnolia, Jonesboro, Little Rock Catholic, Forrest City, Malvern, Little Rock Central and Newport.

Ole Main collected 10 first-place votes and had 123 points. Hall had 108 points. Hot Springs received two first-place votes and the Trojans and Jonesboro tied for the top spot on another ballot.

In Class AA, undefeated Magnolia finished on top, followed by Malvern and Newport. In Class A, it was Prescott first, Clarendon second and Marked Tree third. Farmington won the Class B title, Magnet Cove was second and DeValls Bluff was third.

Hawk said he felt if the team could go through the rugged

Class AAAA conference undefeated, the title of being No. 1 "would be deserving."

Asked if he really felt his team was the best in the state, Hawk said, "I do."

"If you measure talent overall, I don't think anybody can match us," Hawk said. "We've got the running backs, better than average quarterbacks, good receivers, the defensive tackles you've got to have, good over-all quickness."

He said his only concern before the season was the physical size of his offensive line, which he said averaged 173 pounds. "But those guys did a good job," Hawk said.

Another factor in the Wildcats' big season in which they lost only to Jonesboro back in September was "we didn't have a player miss a ball game this year."

Hawk said that was unusual but he said this represented the attitude and dedication of his players. "Injuries are a lot mental," he said. "These kids didn't want to get hurt. They wanted to play football and win."

Ole Main had a 7-4 record last year, but rebounded this season on the strength of 22 seniors, 17 of whom have received recruiting mail from colleges.

"We're tickled to death to get the recognition," Hawk said, "but we won't try to live on it next year. It's (being No. 1) an honor when the season is over."

Florida State is ranked No. 1 in "Class B" of major college basketball as the Seminoles prepare to open their season Friday night against Little Georgia Southern.

UCLA's Bruins? Oh, they are Class A. Everybody knows UCLA should be in a class by itself. So, there you are.

Wisconsin was buried under the Bruin thunder 94-63 Saturday night, and the next scheduled victims for Coach John Wooden's six-in-a-row national champions are the Bradley Braves.

During that span, UCLA has a 100-6 record and the Bruins won their 40th straight in smothering the Badgers.

In action tonight, 10th-ranked Ohio State hosts Wisconsin-Milwaukee and No. 15 Houston is at home against Southern Mississippi. Jacksonville, another potential power but currently unranked, is on the road at William & Mary.

Bill Walton, UCLA's 6-foot-11 ringer, scored a point a minute against Wisconsin. He played 26, scored 26 and grabbed 20 rebounds before Wooden showed mercy.

UCLA inched toward the longest winning streak in college history, one of the few marks the Wooden boys haven't tucked away over the years. The University of San Francisco won 60 straight during the Bill Russell era in the mid-1950s.

In other Saturday action, No. 4 Minnesota thumped California-Irvine 93-71 and the Missouri Tigers dedicated their new $11 million arena by beating Ohio University 87-75.

Red Wings upended by Seals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who's No. 2? Alex Delvecchio, that's who. Delvecchio scored his seventh goal of the season Sunday night, giving him 1,220 points for his 22-year National Hockey League career, second highest in NHL annals.

No. 1, of course, is former Detroit Red Wings star Gordie Howe, who chalked up 1,800 points in his career.

Despite Delvecchio's goal, the Detroit Red Wings were upended by the California Golden Seals 6-4, thanks to the goal-tending of Gilles Meloche.

Phillies get first swing in drafts

HONOLULU (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies will get the first swing today when baseball's winter meetings open with a draft of minor league talent.

But it's more than likely that the leadoff team and the 23 other major league squads that follow will strike out looking for help among the bushes.

Historically, trades are the hot items at these annual affairs, not the draft picks.

Only 13 players were drafted by the majors at last year's session in Phoenix, and merely two of those struck around for any work in the big time. In contrast, the Phoenix meetings provided 15 deals involving 53 players.

At any rate, the Cleveland Indians appear ready to pick up a minor leaguer or two at the relative bargain-basement price of $25,000 apiece. In shaping their roster for these meetings, the Indians pared down to 38 men, two under the 40-player limit for winter.

Cleveland, which has already made two trades since the World Series, unloaded two left-handed hurlers—Marcellino Lopez and Bill Butler to their Oklahoma City team in the Triple-A American Association.

After the draft opens the week-long session, the minor leagues will hold a round of meetings today and Tuesday. The majors then will take over for the rest of the week with a formal agenda dealing with the postseason playoff format and reports from the player-relations committee, among other things.

The Phillies, who got the No. 1 drafting position because their 1972 record was the worst in baseball, will no doubt jump into the trading pool. The Phillies, who have already swung a seven-man deal, are in need of help at several positions.

Longhorns planning bowl strategy

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

With the University of Texas already making plans for its New Year's Cotton Bowl date with Alabama, you'd think nothing would be at stake this Saturday when little ole Rice meets Baylor and Southern plans Texas Christian.

But there's plenty on the line. Should Rice and SMU win they'll finish in a three-tie for second-place with Sun Bowl-bound Texas Tech.

And you think Baylor and TCU don't have incentive? Should they lose they fall into a tie with Texas A&M for the cellar spot. Should they win, it would throw the conference in a five-way tie for third place—some SIX notches up the ladder.

"Anyone can beat anyone in this conference...except for Texas," said Mustang Coach Hayden Fry Saturday after his Mustangs sneaked past Baylor 12-7.

Texas, which was seventh-ranked before its 38-3 Thanksgiving Day mauling of Texas A&M, is 9-0 and should vault even higher in the national ratings.

The Longhorns finished the season 7-0 in SWC play. Next comes Texas Tech at 4-3 followed by SMU and Rice at 3-3, Arkansas at 3-4, Baylor and TCU at 2-4, and Texas A&M at 2-5.

In other games Saturday, Arkansas stunned Texas Tech 24-14 and Rice outlasted TCU 25-21.

Arkansas, the pre-season favorite, finished its year at 6-5 with heralded Joe Ferguson, the quarterback with potential Heisman Trophy credentials, on the bench without playing a down.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles started Scott Bull because three of his split receivers were injured.

"We decided to go with our running game and our best running quarterback, Bull," Broyles said. "With out running game going we had no need for our asser, Ferguson."

Fry had some things to say about those who make bowl selections and pick all-conference and All-American teams before the regular season is completed.

"If we beat Texas Christian this week our record will be better than some teams playing in bowl games," Fry said.

He added "I'm going to recommend to Frank Broyles (NCAA rules committee head) that the NCAA move back the date in which bowl selections can be made...at least until late November. A lot of teams are playing 11 games now. The rule that a team can be invited to a bowl in early November was made when 10-game schedules were the law."

He also said "I don't know why they can't wait until all the conference games are over before they make the (All-SWC) selections. For example, Alvin Maxson had a mid-season slump that I'm sure hurt him. He's coming out of it now and having an excellent season. The selectors should be able to judge a player over the full season."

Fighting continues

By GEORGE ESPEY
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Heavy fighting raged just below the demilitarized zone today while U.S. B52 bombers kept up the attack on North Vietnam.

North Vietnamese gunners slammed more than 2,500 shells into South Vietnamese troops trying to expand their territorial control in Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost province.

Both South Vietnamese marines pushing from Quang Tri City up the coastal plain and paratroopers pressing westward into the foothills came under heavy attack over the weekend.

Eighteen South Vietnamese troops were reported killed and 77 wounded, while 32 North Vietnamese were reported killed.

The B52s struck around North Vietnam's Highway 7, the supply line that leads through the Barthelemy Pass into the Plain of Jars in northern Laos, 155 miles southwest of Hanoi. U.S. officials reported Hanoi was making a massive effort to supply North Vietnamese troops advancing through the Plain of Jars.

The B52s also struck in support of South Vietnamese forces battling along the DMZ and to the south of the buffer zone. The eight-jet bombers launched more than 20 strikes to the west, northwest, north and southwest of Quang Tri City.

The U.S. Command reported that monsoons again sharply curtailed operations by U.S. fighter-bombers in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam, limiting them to about 30 strikes Sunday.

It was the 10th straight day the smaller planes have flown less than 100 strikes; and, on most of these days, the number has been under 50.

The Command reported that a Navy F8 jet crashed at sea from mechanical failure while returning from a mission over South Vietnam Sunday. The pilot was rescued uninjured.

North Vietnam claimed its forces shot down an unmanned U.S. reconnaissance plane over Haiphong today.

Dec. 1 is deadline on ASC committee voting

It's now time for Hempstead County farmers to vote their choice for ASC community committee says Ralph Montgomery, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

Ballots went in the mail Nov. 20, and they must be properly voted and returned to the County ASCS Office by Dec. 1, in order to be counted, he said.

Votes will be tabulated publicly by the County Committee at 10 a.m. in the County ASCS Office on Dec. 8.

Each ASC community will vote its own slate of nominees. Following are the slate of nominees for the five community ASC committees: A-B Tom Lee Brint, Brooks Collins, Leo Hatch, B. V. Jester, Bill Schooley, Jimmie Stuart; C-D Joe Hampton, Charles W. Key, Jr., Johnnie Kramer, Leo Morrison, C. J. Rowe, Autrey Wilson; E-F G. Matt Bristow, Andrew Cooper, J. E. Lively, R. E. Lively, J. K. Porter, Johnnie Thompson; H-I Carl Brown, D. B. Carman, John C. Lloyd, Gay Lee, Sam Miller, Ray B. Roberts; J-K L. F. U. Flaherty, Clarence Ross, James Staggars, Martin Stanley, Monroe Stuart, Clarence Sweet.

Each farmer may vote for not more than three candidates in the ASC Election. He may select up to three of the candidates listed, or he may write in his choice on the lines provided at the bottom of the ballot.

In each of the five ASC communities in the county, three community committeemen and two alternates will be elected. The candidates receiving the highest number of votes becomes chairman; the second highest, vice chairman; third-high, regular member; and the fourth and fifth highest becomes 1st and 2nd alternates who serve on the community committee if regular members are absent or if a permanent vacancy occurs. All election ties will be settled by lot.

ASC community committeemen are elected for one-year terms, to begin January 1, Mr. Montgomery said. "It's very important that farmers elect representatives and qualified farmer-neighbors for community committee posts. These community committees elect the county ASCS committee and choose its officers. They also help keep farmers in their communities informed on how individual farm operations will be affected by farm programs administered by the County ASC Committee. The major ASCS programs in Hempstead County are REAP, Cotton, Feed Grain and Price Support Programs.

Any farmer, tenant, or sharecropper, of legal voting age, may vote in the election if his farm is eligible to participate in any of the ASCS programs administered in his community. Others who may vote are: a minor who supervises or conducts the farming operation of an entire farm; a legal guardian who manages a farm for a child; and a person representing a legal entity such as a partnership or corporation.

Producers who have farm interests in more than one community may select the community in which to vote, but may vote in only one community in the county.

Ballots should be voted and then sealed inside the plain envelope. This envelope should then be placed inside the one addressed to the county office. This procedure insures the secrecy of each vote. The certification on the election envelope must be signed and dated before being returned to the county office. Voters who certify their ballots with an "X" for a signature must do so before a witness and obtain the signature of the witness in order for the ballot to be counted.

A list of known eligible voters is open for inspection at the county ASCS office. Any person who believes he is an eligible voter but is not listed, or has not received a ballot in the mail within a few days after November 20, should inquire at the County ASCS Office as soon as possible.

Drug-dependent doctors termed serious problem

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The American Medical Association has been urged to take strong action to protect the public against a "significant problem" of alcoholism, drug dependence and other psychiatric disorders among practicing physicians.

The Council on Mental Health of the AMA's Board of Trustees made the call on Sunday to the AMA's policy-making House of Delegates at the opening of the organization's 26th clinical convention.

The group suggested that the number of such emotionally sick doctors is relatively small, compared with the total number of doctors in the United States. But it said there is consistent evidence that such problems exist and that, occasionally, they jeopardize such doctors' accountability to the public.

And it added that one study has reported that estimates of the incidence of narcotic addiction in physicians "varies from 30 to 100 times that in the general population" — indicating that such addiction is an occupational hazard for physicians.

The council urged the AMA to approve a series of graduated guidelines, short of disciplinary action, to get such sick doctors to concede their problem, seek professional help and possibly curtail or suspend practice voluntarily.

But it also recommended that, if there is a failure from such referrals to the doctors' "peers" — including hospital staffs and medical societies — the matter "should be referred to the appropriate licensing body in the state."

The council further recommended that the AMA's judicial experts draft a model law dealing with physicians having such problems and disseminate it to state and county medical societies for legislative action in their jurisdiction.

The council pointed out that only two states — Florida and Texas — now have "sick-doctor" statutes.

Smith is speaker

Jerry Smith of Morrilton, a graduate of Ouachita Baptist University who plans to study International Relations in Zambia next year under a Rotary fellowship spoke to the Rotary Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting Friday, November 24 at the Town and Country.

Bob Gullett was program chairman and introduced the speaker, who explained that Zambia is located in South Central Africa, is a little larger than Texas, has over 4 million people, and has English for the official language. The speaker will be an ambassador of good will to this African country and he feels that he will benefit himself by the experience because a year of study abroad is worth two or more years of study at home. At the present time he is co-ordinator of student activities at Ouachita Baptist University and is looking forward to going to the land of the late Dr. David Livingstone and the Victoria Falls, which is third largest producer of copper.

President Bob Roberts was in charge of the meeting and welcomed visiting Rotarians Seb Reyenga of Winchester, Ind., and Charles Wilburn of Texarkana, and guests Kenneth Carey of Texarkana and Jess Moore of Shreveport. He also called a short board meeting after the program.

IRA chief weak

DUBLIN (AP) — IRA chief-tain Sean MacStiofain is "very weak but in no immediate danger of death" as a result of his nine-day-old hunger and thirst strike, doctors treating him in a Dublin hospital said today.

MacStiofain, who is fasting to protest his arrest by the Irish Republic, was given a six-month jail term Saturday for belonging to the outlawed Irish Republican Army. His sentencing spawned a futile attempt to free him Sunday night, gun battles in Belfast and demonstrations in London.

British troops said they shot 11 IRA men in heavy skirmishing in Belfast, the capital of Northern Ireland, and captured three IRA officers, including a company commander and an explosives expert, in a raid on a dance hall.

Police said four persons were slightly wounded in the attempt by eight gunmen — two dressed as Roman Catholic priests, the others as doctors and hospital workers — to free MacStiofain from Dublin's Mater Hospital. The casualties were one of the gunmen, who was captured, one policeman and two bystanders.

The seven other gunmen fled in taxis. "It happened during the hospital visiting time," a police spokesman said. "Lots of people were waiting to see sick relatives," and the disguised gunmen mingled with the visitors.

"Our men were in an office leading to the ward where MacStiofain is detained," the spokesman said. "The gunmen had to pass them, and the gun battle took place in a narrow passage leading to the ward. Shots were flying everywhere."

"There never was any danger of them getting MacStiofain out," he added.

Oswald: "There are two ways for South to play today's hand. The first is the conservative way. South looks over dummy and sees that the heart suit is wide open against him. He tries to cash the first nine tricks, but when diamonds fail to break he can only collect eight."

Jim: "A more enterprising South decides that since West didn't open a heart he probably won't find a heart shift if let in early. South wins the club in dummy and plays his eight-spot so that West won't be sure that East's three-spot play had not been made from queen-three-two. Then South leads the four of spades from dummy and sticks in his 10-spot. West is in with the queen and if he is gifted with second sight will shift to the king of hearts and beat South two tricks."

Oswald: "If West is just a normal good bridge player he will lead another club. Now South will have two chances to collect nine tricks. All he will need is a break in either spades or diamonds. The diamonds haven't shifted around any so they don't break, but the spades were divided nicely and the game makes."

Jim: "South may even wind up with 10 tricks on this line of play. If he runs spades, West may just part with a diamond when the fourth spade is led."

Blind man is mechanic

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alfred Whiteing repairs and rebuilds automobile transmissions — one of the most intricate of automotive mechanical tasks.

"He's been working for me for about 2½ years, and I'd be hard put to replace the man," says his boss, Charles Amador. "He's a good rebuild, good mechanic, has a good attitude — everything."

Whiteing, 57, has been blind for 25 years.

"Once you decide you're not going to have your vision back, then you go about your business," says Whiteing.

He was blinded in an explosion in 1947.

For eight years, Whiteing rode an emotional roller coaster of hope and despair as he underwent four unsuccessful cornea transplants.

When he realized there was no hope of regaining his sight, he enrolled in a mechanics school under a state rehabilitation program.

"I found out that, if you want to live to any decent kind of standard, you've got to work," he said in an interview. "You can barely survive on a blind pension."

Whiteing specialized in automatic transmissions, which have as many as 500 parts. After six months of training, he got his first job in a repair shop. Three days later, he was fired.

"When you get out of school, you don't know anything — not really," he said. "They had hired me mostly as a gesture to please the school."

It took him a year to find another job. "It's not easy, believe me," he said. "First off, they figure you can't do it."

Since then, he's had half a dozen jobs. When business fell off, he usually was the first to be laid off.

He and a partner opened their own garage in the mid-1960s. Whiteing recalls it as "an expensive little venture that didn't pay off."

His skill increased with experience. His assets are a memory sharpened by its extra burden and sensitive hands that "see" flaws in transmission parts that are invisible to trained eyes.

And now he has a steady job in a transmission shop in Hollywood.

Mills award recipient

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Mount Pleasant Human Relations Award was presented to Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., Sunday in recognition of his "concern for the poor, the black and the underprivileged."

The award was presented by the Mount Pleasant Baptist Church here, a congregation founded by former slaves in 1875.

The Rev. J. H. Corbitt, church pastor, presented a plaque to Mills and described him as a "decent and honorable man who has shown great concern for the poor, the black and the disadvantaged."

Mills promised to display the award on his office wall in Washington.

"Let me say truthfully that I feel the presence of the Almighty here today as much as I have ever felt it in any gathering of the faithful."

After the program, Mills said in an interview that he would support Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., for the job as chairman of the National Democratic party, but Mills said there were several others he also could support, naming Charles Ward of Conway, former chairman Lawrence O'Brien and Joe Burke, who Mills said campaigned for him in Connecticut when he ran for president.

Pryor was mentioned several weeks ago by Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, as a possible choice for national party chairman.

SALES AWARD—Martin Pool Sr., manager of the Hope Coca-Cola Bottling Company, received a per capita sales award recently from David C. Reddick, district manager, bottler operations, for Coca-Cola USA, Dallas. The plaque recognizes the achievement by the Hope plant of a per capita of 200. This means that every person in the plant's trade territory on an average consumes two hundred drinks per year of Coca-Cola and its allied products, Sprite, Tab, Fresca and Fanta flavors.

Some people can't use sugar

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

My Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—In a recent article you mentioned that there are rare individuals who cannot handle ordinary sugar because they can't absorb it from the intestines. Will you please give me more information about this condition and how it is treated. I suspect that I may be a victim of this condition in addition to a lack of lac-tase which was proved by a lactose tolerance test.

My symptoms improved after eliminating milk and all milk products from my diet, but I have found that I must also eliminate most of the ordinary sugar and even fresh fruits such as pears, grapes, apples, and oranges in order to be comfortable. Even a single bite of a sweet dessert can cause me to wake in the night with a bad taste in my mouth and a feeling of nausea. A small amount of sugar at the evening meal causes me to have this problem. Is there a test to prove this lack? Doctors I have consulted tend to think "it is all in my head," which I doubt.

Dear Reader—Lactose, the milk sugar, and ordinary table sugar are both double sugars, technically called disaccharides, which means they have to be split into single sugars, technically called monosaccharides, before they can be absorbed, from the digestive tract. If they are not absorbed, then they act somewhat like a chemical laxative causing distention particularly, as well as diarrhea and irritable colon. The symptoms vary in different individuals, but they can include severe abdominal pain.

Of course the body requires energy to function so if you are not absorbing enough food elements there is a tendency to fatigue.

Now, none of these symptoms may be related to your problem. However, a simple test that you can do is to stop using sugar and foods that contain sugar, such as those that you mentioned. For sweets you can use honey, since all of the sugar in honey is of the monosaccharide or single sugar variety.

That means it can be absorbed directly from the digestive tract without an enzyme action as is needed to absorb ordinary table sugar. If you still have symptoms after using honey instead of sugar, your problem is not related to an inability to absorb sugar, but may be related to problems of low blood sugar or other difficulties.

While intolerance to the milk sugar lactose, is fairly common, intolerance to ordinary table sugar and the double sugars present in fruits is relatively rare, but it does occur. Special laboratory tests can be utilized to test for this problem, but to accomplish these you would probably need to see either a specialist in gastroenterology or metabolism.

Individuals who cannot eat fruit for any reason must be particularly careful to eat tomatoes or other foods that contain vitamin C or else take adequate amounts in vitamin supplements.

Your symptoms may be related to regurgitation of gastric contents into your lower esophagus because of a hiatal hernia or other problem in proper closure of the valve at the inlet of the stomach.

Cornered gunman killed by sharpshooter

By LYLE W. PRICE
Associated Press Writer
CORONA, Calif. (AP) — The cornered gunman crooked his arm tightly about the neck of the kidnapped girl and kept shouting he would pull the trigger of the gun at her temple if officers didn't let him escape. The drama lasted for an hour Sunday in a Southern California citrus grove. Then the young man leaned slightly away from the frightened girl beside him on the front seat of the car. From 15 feet away, an officer with a 30-30 rifle fired, and Richard Lee Driskill, a high-school dropout with a growing crime record at 22, slumped dead of a single shot in the head. It was the end of a seven-hour ordeal that left 16-year-old Debra Brazil shaken but unharmed, police said. It began when the girl and her mother were kidnaped by the gunman, whose car had broken down near their home in Hughson, 300 miles north of here. Police said Driskill entered the Brazil home after his car became disabled nearby Saturday night. Authorities said he took the girl at knifepoint to a nearby field and attempted to molest her sexually. When Mrs. Brazil came home, he forced both of them into the Brazil car and fled.

Officers said the mother, Angela Brazil, escaped at Bakerville. She dodged a bullet from Driskill's gun and alerted police. About 30 officers from several police and sheriff's departments began tracking the gunman's car over freeways at speeds of up to 100 miles an hour. A sheriff's helicopter flew overhead.

The fleeing car turned off a freeway at Corona, 35 miles southeast of Los Angeles, and was hemmed in by police vehicles beside a citrus grove. A Los Angeles County sheriff's officer crept up behind the car and slashed both rear tires, officials said. They said the man screamed "one hundred times" from inside the tightly locked car for officers to go away or he would shoot the girl. He was slain by officer Richard Godfrey, who had been stationed nearby to take advantage of any opportunity to shoot after the man ignored repeated police pleas to give himself up. Officials at Hughson said Driskill, a lumber yard employee, had a criminal record that included armed robbery, threatening an officer's life and trying to commit suicide in jail.

Gorilla talking by signs

By LARRY CARROLL
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coco signs for her dinner, signs for her drinks and signs whenever she wants to go out. Coco, a 26-pound baby gorilla at the San Francisco Zoo, is being taught sign language by a Stanford University graduate student in developmental psychology.

Her teacher, Penny Patterson, 25, believes her research with the gorilla is unique and hopes it will help in using sign language as a teaching aid for retarded children.

"Teaching a primate sign language is not new, but I think Coco is the first gorilla to be used in such research," said Miss Patterson in an interview Friday.

She is patterning her research after that of two University of Nevada comparative psychologists who successfully taught a baby chimpanzee 200 signs in five years.

Miss Patterson began working with the 18-month-old gorilla four months ago and now spends up to five hours a day with her.

In her daily sessions, Coco signals for a drink by placing her thumb to her mouth, asks for food by placing all of her fingers to her mouth and signs to go from one section of her glassed-in room to another by making an outward motion with her hand.

And she's working very hard on the signs for "more" and "no."

"The desire for food and drink are strongly motivational, and teaching Coco these signs was relatively easy," Miss Patterson said.

"Sign-language grammar is different from that of any other language, and I hope to learn a great deal from Coco. The order in which she uses the signs is very important, especially when she uses a series," Miss Patterson said.

It is important to determine whether the gorilla's sign word order is based on context or imitation, she said. "I am striving to interpret the context in which she uses the signs because that is important in the analysis of a child's language."

Eventually, Miss Patterson will compare Coco's progress with a 2-year-old deaf child's acquisition of sign language and then plans to write her doctoral dissertation on her research with the gorilla.

She hopes to work with Coco two more years, but anything beyond that is highly unlikely.

Pups, pooches push protest

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two dozen dogs staged a protest demonstration on Miami Beach Sunday while their owners demanded that the city and a local kennel club open their beaches to pups as well as people.

The canines, ranging from sheep dogs to Great Danes, romped across the sand, splashed through the surf chasing pretty girls and generally had a grand old time before police, a security guard and rain dispersed the long-haired protesters.

Meanwhile, their masters vowed to return every Sunday until the city sets aside a section of beach for real dog-paddlers or until the Miami Beach Kennel Club allows canines to use its 300-yard private beach.

"The dogs have earned a right to be out here," protested Larry Frank, 22, when a security guard arrived on the scene in a golf cart and ordered the demonstrators off the kennel club's private property.

Superports project gaining in support

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A

special study for the Federal Maritime Administration has recommended construction of floating superports off the Delaware and Louisiana coasts for huge tankers to unload oil imported from abroad.

The offshore port facilities are necessary to accommodate the growing fleet of deep draft supertankers that require water depths of 100 feet, the report said.

The report, issued Sunday, is the first of several being prepared through federal agencies and by some states. In addition to the Maritime Administration, it is being studied by the Corps of Engineers and the Council on Environmental Quality.

It was prepared by Soros, Inc., a New York consulting firm.

The mayor of Rehoboth Beach, Del., Lester Johnson, was quick to criticize the recommendation for a superport off the Delaware coast, warning of possible oil spills off the beach resort.

"I understand it's impossible to unload without spills," Johnson said Sunday. "And it's been proven that anything out there washes ashore."

The recommendation of the Louisiana site was welcomed by P.J. Mills, executive director of the Louisiana Superport authority.

"The study put Louisiana five or six jumps ahead of the nearest competitor," he said.

A group of oilmen announced in New Orleans last week they have formed a corporation to build a superport off the Louisiana coast if the state gets federal permission.

The report said the offshore ports are the best solution to the oil import problem from both an ecological and economical standpoint.

Both ports would soon pay for themselves, it said, since oil imports are expected to increase from the three million barrels per day in 1970 to 15 million barrels daily by 1985.

The report said the costs of dredging existing harbors to the necessary 100 foot depth and maintaining them would be prohibitive. At present, only ports in Puget Sound in the Pacific Northwest can accommodate the supertankers.
